About NEW Hotel

NEW Hotel is ideally located between the traditional Plaka neighborhood and the modern commercial center of Athens, bridging the gap between the city's historic and contemporary facets. Designed by award-winning Brazilian designers Fernando and Humberto Campana in collaboration with architecture students from the University of Thessaly, NEW Hotel blends traditional and modern elements of the Athenian neighborhood. It is characterized by its innovative use of objects from tradition, such as historical postcards of Athens, distinctive glass constructions for protection from the "evil eye," and figures from shadow theater based on "Karagiozis," creating a contemporary expression of folklore. The team also focused on repurposing and recycling abandoned furniture, lighting, and materials from the former Olympic Palace, which previously stood at the same location, to recreate them into something modern and bold.

About YES! Hotels Group

YES! Hotels Group consists of four hotels: NEW Hotel, Semiramis Hotel, Periscope Hotel, and NOÛS in Santorini. The creation of YES! Hotels Group resulted from the inspiration to offer a fresh, enthusiastic, and captivating hospitality experience. It also marked a commitment to a new form of integrating art into hospitality. The design of NEW Hotel at Syntagma harmoniously combines traditional and modern elements of the Athenian neighborhood, designed by Brazilian designers, Campana Brothers, in collaboration with architecture students from the University of Thessaly. Semiramis Hotel, the first hotel of YES! Hotels, was designed by the renowned Karim Rashid, presenting pioneering design in the Kifisia area. Periscope Hotel in Kolonaki is characterized by its urban design, with the city as the focal point. The role of art in the experience of YES! Hotels' guests express the timeless dedication to high-quality hospitality, focusing on local traditions and culture through a modern lens. In this context, YES! Hotels Group was inspired to create NOÛS, a luxury resort that places modern art, authentic design, and absolute privacy at its forefront.
